

Historic Smithton Inn – Group Policies & Etiquette

We've learned that circumstances / issues come up with groups of guests staying in the Inn that don't necessarily come up with single-room guests. While some or all of the items on this list may seem silly or completely outside the bounds of how you or your friends behave, we hope you understand that the list has evolved based on our experiences and is an attempt to avoid misunderstandings by laying out the ground rules in advance. So, here are some guidelines to help you enjoy your stay while respecting the innkeepers and property:

- At all times, please remember that this is our HOME, please treat it accordingly.

- The kitchen is off limits to guests, especially the refrigerator/freezer. If there is something you need such as ice or a knife and cutting board, contact the innkeeper so we can get it for you. This rule is for health code reasons and we appreciate your strict compliance.
 - o Note: Each guest room has an in-room refrigerator for your use. If you need additional refrigerator / freezer space, just let us know and we'll do the best we can to make room for your item(s) in the Inn's refrigerator/freezer.

- We understand that groups often need to move furniture around in the living or dining room in order to play games or converse with your friends. We ask that when you leave, either to go out for the day, go out for dinner or go to bed at night, that you return the room(s) as you found it(them). This includes moving all furniture back, picking up all trash and removing any personal items. Any dishes (ie: coffee mugs) that need to be washed may be left on the front reception desk.

- If you need to reach the innkeepers, you can either ring the bell on the front desk or call us on the house phone at 717-733-6094. We typically go to sleep between 9-10 pm, so please bear that in mind when calling.

- The innkeepers live on site, have a school-age son and neighbors nearby. Our rule, both inside and outside the building, is that quiet-time begins at 9:00 pm.

- Our B&B is a non-smoking facility. We allow smoking outside, but ask that you properly dispose of cigarette butts in the trash. There is a special receptacle on the front porch. Please make sure all nearby windows and doors are closed when you're smoking so that odors don't venture indoors.

- The facility is for guests only. Permission is required (and only polite) to bring additional friends / guests into the Inn. If you'd like to have a happy hour or party on site, let us know and we'd be happy to work with you, depending on the circumstances, an additional facility use fee may apply.
